

KILAUEA SHOWS ITS FIERY FOUNTS

Volcano on the Big Island Sends Up Molten Geysers.

The tourists who left Honolulu last Tuesday by the Mauna Loa and Claudine reached Kilauea just at the right time to witness a magnificent display in the great pit of Halemaumau. On Thursday night the floor of the pit showed a lake of molten and boiling lava 570 feet across, and plainly visible from the upper banks. The lowest floor of the pit has risen 175 feet since the first outbreak in June, and as the seething mass gradually rises toward the rim the sight becomes more magnificent.

Mr. Richard H. Trent has been elected general agent of the Kilauea Volcano House Company, Ltd., with executive powers, and his first effort will be to arrange a series of pleasant and attractive trips for persons desiring to visit the volcano at a minimum of expense. Mr. Trent will have his headquarters in the office of Henry Waterhouse & Co., where volcano business can be conveniently and pleasantly handled, and where tickets will be on sale, as well as at the local steamship offices, so soon as a new series now in process of preparation can be gotten ready.

BRIDE CAME FROM A SOUTHERN SEA

It is not often that wedding bells are rung in St. Andrew's Cathedral on a Sunday, but yesterday was an exception as the bride only arrived by the Miowera, Saturday afternoon, that steamer being about three days late from the Colonies. Canon Kiteat, and Wray Taylor presided at the organ. It took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and was a very quiet affair only Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Catton and family being present.
